BIOGRAPHY

Blooming Discord is an alternative metal band from Marseilles formed in 2015, inspired by bands such as System Of A Down, Stone Sour, Avenged Sevenfold, Beartooth and Electric Callboy.

Winners of the MetalDays French contest in May 2024, two-time winners of the French Metal Triumphs (2022 for 'Inner Evil' and 2023 for 'Latch'), the band have just released a critically acclaimed album: 'Memories From The Future', produced by Flo Salfati at Homeless Records (Landmvrks).

With over sixty shows to their credit, including gigs with Textures, Scarlean, Uneven Structure, Out Of My Eyes, several Hellfest Cult events (Full Metal Rocket, Jabba's Night, Camel In Hell...), and several sold-out shows in Marseille since the summer of 2022, including the Release Party on 15/02/2024 at Makeda (300 people), the band are renowned for their energetic, communicative shows, and offer a musical universe accessible to all audiences, rockers in the know and neophytes alike.

Blending metalcore influences from the 2000s, grunge energy and a modern sound, Blooming Discord strive for versatility and the element of surprise, without ever losing sight of catchy choruses and riffs, and the festive atmosphere of a music resolutely designed for live performance.

Working in partnership with Keuf Metal and Where The Promo Is, among others, and surrounded by dedicated staff, the entire team works tirelessly to share their music, their world and their aspirations with a wide range of audiences, especially young people, with a new generation thirsting for intensity, immersion and an organic feel. Performing live and sharing emotions through music: such is the heart of Blooming Discord's path.

VISION & PHILOSOPHY

The 5 members of Blooming Discord have learned everything together and have worked hard to gather around them not just an audience, but a real entourage that helps to build excitement around projects and events linked to the band.

The album 'Memories From The Future' evokes the relative perception imposed on us by our subjectivity regarding what we want to believe in: love, spirituality, friendship, progress. And how these pillars, which seem essential, absolute and eternal, can collapse and give way to a dizzying but sometimes liberating void.

Blooming Discord attaches a great deal of importance to its involvement in the Marseilles music scene, and never misses an opportunity to work for its development. Even in the shadows, this scene has never ceased to create, propose, agitate and exist, through numerous initiatives, from Rue du Rock to concert organisations, historic record shops like Sabre Tooth, specialised media like Metal II Mars or venues like the late Machine à Coudre, Salle Gueule, Maison Hantée or Molotov, located right in the heart of the Creators' District, and distinguished by its resolutely plural programming: from small local bands to international acts, from cumbia and metal to reggae, electro and punk rock.

This is where Blooming Discord invited all the local scene representatives (Acod, Eths, Scarlean, Digital Nova, Lecks Inc, The Nurses, Fleur...) to take part in the filming of the 'Latch' video.

The idea was to bring together in one music video the widest possible range of players from Marseille, as a wink that will bring a smile to all those who ever attended, organised or gave concerts and shared the intensity that was so greatly lacking during lockdowns and other curfews. Like another kind of 'organised gang'...

The aim is to pay tribute to all those who work together to keep amplified creativity alive: amateur, professional and aspiring bands, associations, cultural and live performance venues, collectives, craftspeople, technicians, photographers, journalists, music lovers and concert-goers...

VISUALS AND ARTISTIC APPROACHES

Blooming Discord goes beyond the musical aspect and is just as involved from a visual perspective. Whether it's the merchandising, the illustrations or the design of the clips - especially the animated ones - the artistic thread running through the band's identity is based on a universe of Comics, Old-School, Street and Underground.
